The Marietta public are decent. Saturday, when young Briant, of Parkersburg, finished first in the novice race, 2,000 Marietta people cheered him. The Parkersburg Journal, however, in its write up of the event, gives the impression that the Journal won the race and shames the plucky rider it tries to honor by a dirty fling at Marietta and the local riders. The Journal's jealousy grows daily more painful to its friends. For the purpose of setting straight the Journal ignoramus, who by his notice of Briant's winnings proves himself a novice in cycling affairs, we may state that the only place Briant secured in all the seven events was in the novice. He violated in that race a well known rule that but for the leniency of the Marietta officials conducting the meet would have disqualified him. He made a good showing, but when he got out of the novice into the bunch of racers he was lost sight of. Ogle, of this city, carried off $85 worth of prizes and the championship cup.

It was at first reported that the boat was a total wreck, but late dispatches state that the boat had a few feet of water, and can be raised. A man's life may be saved in many ways. A man may commit suicide in a great many ways. Shooting himself through the head is quicker, but it is no more certain than neglecting his health. If a woman saw her husband with a pistol to his head, she would take prompt and vigorous measures to save him; but the same woman might see her husband on the down-grade to disease and death without seeing the seriousness of it. One-sixth of all the people who die, die of consumption. Consumption doesn't come all at once. It is insidious. The seeds of it are seemingly insignificant. Most people do not know how it starts. Thousands of people are on the road to consumption and don't know it. When ever there is loss of flesh—pallor—wasting away—look out. Consumption easily finds a foot-hold in a weakened body. Low vitality, impure or poor blood, imperfect digestion, nervousness, sleeplessness—all these lead to consumption.

Taken in time, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will prevent the development of the disease. Taken according to directions, it will positively and perfectly cure ninety-eight per cent. of all cases of consumption, whether incipient or fully developed. Consumption is a disease of the blood. The "Golden Medical Discovery" is a cure for all blood diseases, no matter in what part or how they manifest themselves. If you want to know all about it, and what it has done for other people, send twenty-one (21) one-cent stamps to cover the cost of mailing only for a FREE COPY of Dr. Pierce's great 1008 page work, "Common Sense Medical Adviser." Every family should have a copy of this book for ready reference. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.
